WIN-TRON ELECTRONICS ADDS BOAT SECURITY SYSTEM TO LINEUP Paradox Marine's NAV-TRACKER 1.0/2.0 GPS TRACKING SYSTEM. Recipient of a USCG Medal for Assisting in Stolen Vessel Recovery

Spring Lake Heights, New Jersey, April 10, 2009 – Win-Tron Electronics is pleased to announce that it has agreed to distribute Paradox Marine's NAV-TRACKER 1.0/2.0 GPS TRACKING SYSTEM.

The Nav-Tracker will keep you informed of your boat's location through a GPS tracking service provided by the new Inmarsat Isat M2M service (Inmarsat D+ service for the Nav-Tracker 1.0). This extremely reliable service, formerly used exclusively by commercial vessels, is now available to the private boat owner. When armed, the system passively sets a 500 meter geo-fence (radius) around the vessel. In the event the geo-fence is breached, as many as 8 recipients you designate will receive an email and/or text message displaying the vessel name, its location in latitude and longitude, the closest city, its speed and heading. The unit will also send you a daily status report with the same information. Finally boat owners can have peace of mind knowing where their boat is at all times. Optional sensors are also available.

"This product is becoming very popular with boaters," says Eddie Winder, Senior Vice President of Win-Tron Electronics, "because it provides an unmatched level of security. If your boat is the victim of thief, the Nav-Tracker will be able to provide authorities with the exact location of your vessel so it can be easily and quickly recovered. It's like LoJack for boats! And most insurance companies love the device so they encourage its purchase with HUGE discounts."
